Welcome back! We hope you are forgiving for the delay, but we got it up anyways, right? Well, Rodentians went WILD over the last report, so now we got another exciting edition! Get ready, get prepared for...

Rodent Report

Cheezer- Welcome back to another exciting edition of Rodent Report! I'm Cheezer, your host. But you should all know that by now. Today we shall be covering everything in the last edition, plus more. More detail, more news, more sports, more, more, MORE!!! Mwuhaha! I shall rule the world! I shall---

Stage crew- Calm down!!!

Cheezer- Oh. Oh dear. I am standing on my desk. I hope I did not frighten anyone. It must have been that all you can drink Pepsi stand on the way in. Gotta avoid that stuff. Well, here's Ears with the news. Over to you, Ears.

Ears- Good evvvening! Here's Ears, bringing you the news! Today our story is not lost in a pile of junk paper, so say this with me: "Ears is DA rabbit!" Go Ears, go Ears, go Ears...

Stage crew- Get on with newsflash!!!

Ears- Oh, right on! I'll just take it from---WAIT!!! My newsflash is gone! Oh, no! It must have flown away while I was celebrating for NOT losing it! Bad, stupid Ears!!! Back to Cheezer! BACK TO CHEEZER!!!

Cheezer- Okay, while Ears is gaining sanity, I'd like to have a brief musical moment by Ratzo and Rizo Rat. They are performing "Ratzopurple and RizoPinkie" which was released onto CD by our sponsor, Snickers the Ant eater and Co.! Now, live from out studio, its Ratzo and Rizo!

*"Ratzopurple and Rizopinkie,
Were a very dorky couple of rats,
As housing builders, high-tech employees,
And when they're bored, they are weavers of mats.*

*We hardly ever see a ray of sunlight,
We only see the light of a computer screen,
We are working for Microsoft, and Sony too,
And love to see the sales of their awesome machines!*

*When our boss is looking for a helping hand,
Since sales are decreasing ever a lot.
We will hear his cry for someone's help now,
And there we will be! Right on the spot!*

*And then he will say with a voice full of glee,
"I'm so thankful for your help to me!"
And then we'll be gone from his office like that!
Then the company will say, "It's that honorable rat!"*

*It was Ratzopurple, or Rizopinkie,
And there's nothing at all to be done about that!*

*Ratzopurple and Rizopinkie,
Are top of the class at bein' real sneaky!
And some days they are full of dullness,
And then the next they are crazy and kinky!*

*We'll go through the office like turning power on,
And we're never noticed, since we're undergrowth!
Was it Ratzopurple or Rizopinkie?
Or could you have sworn that it was fixed by both?*

*And if you hear a glitch go boom!
Or there's high speed Internet so your laptop can zoom!
Or if a virus simply goes ping!
From a site that sells the vases of Ming.*

*Then the company will say,
It was fixed by which rat?*

*It was Ratzopurple,
AND Rizopinkie,
And there's nothing at all to be done about that!"*

Cheezer- Beautiful song your two! Now, I think Ears has stopped sobbing like, like, like...well, you know. Even if you don't, back to Ears.

Ears- Hello again. I have found my report, and it has some dirt, grass stains, and some pigeon...ew. Well, if you look around the white stuff, it says to mark your calendars, since April 30th is Honor your Mayor Day! In celebration, my sweetie, Minsky (Owner of the Rodentia Random and Fun Fact File) is going to give us some random facts strait from the files themselves! Over to you, Minskykins!

Minsky- Aww, Ears, you big doof. Well, here's Minsky on the air, bringing you the facts! I have dug (And dug and dug) in my files, and here are some random facts about the holidays. Some may think these facts aren't so fun or are way too random, but you're listening to this radio show, so you asked for it! Well, anyways, here are my random facts:

1. Rodentia has no clear mayor to honor, but the local town that might become part of Rodentia someday has a mayor, Mayor Ooter of Ottertown! He is 100% fine with being honored by the residents of Rodentia.
2. Honor your Mayor Day started when the first mayor of Rodentia, Swiss von Maustail, wanted a bit more respect from the locals.
3. Von Maustail made it clear that you may not eat American cheese on Honor your Mayor Day. It is said that this rule is here because his stomach couldn't take the cheese properly. Our own reporter, Cheezer, is supposedly the heir of Mr. Von Maustail, and that is why he has the same problem, yet it happens more sudden---

Cheezer- That's quite enough, Minsky! And you did not hear that, all you listeners. Don't speak of it! I demand! Now, it's Pellet's turn, and he shall be telling us the entertainment for tonight. It's over to you, Pellet!

Pellet- Thank you, Cheezer. Okay, listen up, folks. The legendary band, Mouselallica, has---I hope you're sitting down, especially if you are driving, since you can't really view the front window while standing, and something quite bad could happen...back to the subject. Mouselallica is playing at the Squirrel Square Park Stadium. MOUSETALLICA IN CONCERT!!! SOME KIND OF MOUSE! CHEESE STICK! ST. CHEEZER---All playing! Buy your tickets! They'll run out quickly, so buy them now! But listen to this announcement full way first. I'm part of Mousetallica! And Cheezer! Plus Pat and Pux! We're all playing in it, and you thought we were just little furry news reporters, didn't you? HA!!! Then you were wrong! We won, humans lost! HA! HA! HA! Haha! Now, let's see how many tickets are still for sale.

Sorry, folks, all sold out. You should have bought them while you could instead of listening to this stupid announcement. But I told you to listen to it full way! Oh, I'm such a bad boy! Bad Pellet, bad, bad, BAD!!! Sorry. I shall go into this corner for now. Back to (Sniffle) Cheezer...

Cheezer- Don't feel bad, Pellet. It's our band, so we can give others tickets. It'll be all right. Now, we have a special guest that will be with us every once in awhile. If we kept the same headlines all the time, we'd be dull. These rodents want difference, excitement, and surprise! Here's our special guest, Alfred the Kinkajou with Ask Alfred. Now, let's get some answers, Alfred!

Alfred- Thank you. Today, we have the following letter:

Dear Alfred,

I've been planting flowers around my house, but they keep dying. I give them sunscreen, shade, milk and juice, occasional snacks, and massages. They keep on dying. Now my friends are coming over for a fancy dinner in 2 weeks! How do I make my garden grow?

Signed,

Not-so-much-of-the-green-thumb

Hmm. Common problem. But ah, plants do not wish snacks, juice, or a massage. Water and sunlight are the keys to a beautiful garden. That was Ask Alfred. Back to you, Cheezer.

Cheezer- Well, duh, doesn't everyone know that? Why didn't you choose the one about lion training, flying, or dancing the tango? Well, it's your part, but keep it interesting! Last but not least, here's Pat with sports news.

Pat- Uhh, I dunno. Back to you, Cheezer.

Cheezer- This show is a failure! Pellet weeping, Ear's losing his paper, Pat forgetting his lines, Alfred going dull, and Minksy making me look like an idiot! Well, since I'm the only one standing, I'm going to go down to that corner, and get in a little sobbing before the Mousetallica show. Oh, and you can have free entry, since you couldn't buy your tickets. Well, until next time, this is Cheezer, signing off.

(Jazzy ending music)

Announcer- This show was brought to you in part by Snickers the Anteater and Co. (Meep, meep, meep, meep!)
